DAVIS FAGAN.

Miss Helen Davis celebrated Mezzo-soprano, and Sibyl Sanderson Fagan, whistler, without a peer, assisted by Willard Osborne will be heard in an evening recital at the Auditorium on Saturday, May 21st.

Miss Davis is one of the most prominent young singers now on the Concert stage. She is the possessor of a sweet voice of glorious quality and ability to interpret the songs that America loves. She was born in America and has accomplished all her musical and artistic training entirely in this country, of which fact she is very proud.

When Sibyl Sanderson Fagan was a girl, she was given to making everybody in the family miserably laughing loudly and eternally. One day she came a professional whistler to visit the Fagan home in Springfield, Ohio, and Miss Fagan suddenly discovered that she really could whistle a "little better" as she herself expressed it, than most people. She determined to make a real profession for herself by the study of her unusual gift. She studied breathing exercises, which are as important in whistling as in singing. Also, she studied the piano in her artistic ideals were developed. It didn't take her long, after being given piano lessons, to see that her whistling could be made a real art and not an entertaining novelty. Miss Fagan whistles by means of her two fingers. She wouldn't even try it any other way, for she can whistle longer and get less tired and avoid blistered fingers by using her fingers.

The Concert on May 21st promises to be a most unusual treat for the lovers of Hondo.

Ends of admittance may be secured from C. R. Gaines so long as accommodations remain.

Hondo 1; D'Hanis 3.

The D'Hanis baseball team was the guest of the American Legion team here Wednesday afternoon. That D'Hanis team is an ungrateful bunch. After being invited over here and treated as nice as we know how, they were ungrateful enough to wallop their hosts by a score of three to one. About the only satisfaction we got out of the game was that we made them work and sweat for every run they made. It was a good game and was enjoyed by all who witnessed it, and it is hoped that these teams will give other exhibitions on the local diamond of real ball playing before the season closes.

Batteries: D'Hanis, Miller and Finger; Hondo, Merritt and Windrow. Next Wednesday afternoon the Devine team will be here. That town always has a strong team in the field and another hot contest may be expected.

Notice.

The American Legion will have a meeting next Monday night, at 8:00 p. m. at the Courthouse. All members are requested to be present.

O. B. TAYLOR,
Adjutant.

ATTENTION!

All Odd Fellows are requested to attend lodge meeting next Thursday night as there will be matters of importance to consider.

Edgar F. Cockrell.

Edgar F. Cockrell, 52 years old, died at a local sanitarium at 3:25 Wednesday morning. He had been a resident of San Antonio for nine years, residing at 114 Bishop street. Surviving is his widow; his mother, Mrs. E. Bailey of San Antonio; and a son, Frank S. Cockrell of Hondo, Texas; and three other children. The funeral was to be held from the Hagy & McCollum chapel at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, with interment in Roselawn cemetery.—San Antonio Light, May 18th.

Deceased was reared in Medina county and enjoyed the personal acquaintance of nearly every one in this section. According to the best information obtainable deceased was brought to this county by his parents at the age of about eighteen months, the family making their home on the east bank of the Hondo, near the crossing of the San Antonio-Hondo road, some four and one-half miles east of the present town. The elder Cockrell came to this section in search of health and succumbed to tuberculosis resulting from a gunshot wound received in battle while serving as a soldier in the Confederate army. His body was buried in the cemetery at the old rock church at Quihi.

Mrs. Cockrell continued to make her home in this section, later becoming the wife of Wilson Bailey, consequently her son, Edgar, grew to man's estate and was a resident of this county for more than fifty years. He was of a cheerful, happy temperament and his untimely death will cause a pang of sorrow to a large number of life-long friends in this vicinity.

Besides his son, our fellow-townsmen, Mr. Frank S. Cockrell, deceased is survived by one brother and one sister in this section, Mrs. Hattie Crane of Yancey, and Mr. H. R. Bailey, living a few miles south of town.

To the sorrowing relatives, and particularly to the orphaned children deprived of their protector and support, the sympathy of our people goes out in unmeasured terms.

Farm for Sale.

Quite a ripple of excitement was caused in town Monday when the report spread that the drill of the Rio Bravo Oil Co. was ten feet in oil sand at a depth of 198 feet, and that drilling would cease and a test out made. The report as to the drill and oil sand was correct but those in charge of the drilling ordered boring continued and it is now planned to sink the well to a depth of 500 feet before making a test. At that depth, it is figured, the drill will penetrate the oil sand struck in the Medina Oil Development Co's well at 450 feet, when it is hoped a good, strong well will be developed.

The work of cleaning out the well of the Medina Oil Development Company that was "shot" Tuesday of last week is progressing favorably and it is thought it will be in condition for a tryout in a few days. Experienced oil men seem to regard the well as a good proposition, and the Anvil Herald hopes to announce as a positive fact the first producing oil well in the county in its next issue.

Everyone is looking forward to the Recital Friday evening, May 27, at the auditorium.

WANTED—to buy your pop corn, any quantity you have. Will pay a good price for good corn. S. H. Wilkinson.

School Commencement.

A most successful term of the Hondo public school will come to an end with commencement exercises at the city auditorium Wednesday night, May 25th. The term just closing has established a new record for hard work, both on the part of the faculty and student body, and the result is most satisfactory.

To ten of the bright young people of Hondo the approaching commencement holds great significance. While it will mark an important epoch in their lives, it will also bring a tinge of sadness—it will mean the breaking up of pleasant association; it means the passing from the student body into the alumni of the school.

To the ten students who by hard work have completed the prescribed course as a prerequisite to receiving diplomas, the congratulations of our people are due. While it is probable that some of them may seek higher education in the colleges and universities of the state than is afforded by the public school, those who are denied this privilege and who will instead take their position in the industrial life of the community, will at least have the satisfaction of knowing that they enter the battle of life much better equipped in an educational way than were many of their forbearers who have made a success of life.

The following will receive diplomas at the final closing ceremonies of the 1920-21 term: Misses Sadie Earnest, Dorothy Green, Willa Mae Gaines, Ethel Hutzler, Erna Lienweber, Lucile Newton, Altha Van Fleet; Messrs. Milton Batot, Randolph Metzger and George Windrow. Miss Lucile Newton will be the salutatorian and Mr. George Windrow valedictorian of the class.

The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered in the Methodist Church Sunday by the Rev. Dr. Andrews, a baptist minister of Uvalde.

Introspection.
"If a man would consult his mirror as much as a woman does he might learn a great deal about himself," remarked the near philosopher.
"I doubt it," said the observant citizen. "The average matinee idol is not half as good at self-analysis as some homely, bald-headed fellow who never sees himself in a mirror except when he shaves."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Hard to Convince.

A man may look like a statesman and still be a dub," remarked the disgruntled citizen.
"I'm not denying that," said Senator Shortworthy. "What makes me doubt the wisdom of the plain people is the fact that it sometimes takes the constituents of that kind of officeholder twenty years to get his number."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"YOUNG AMERICA."

Following are compositions written by Philippine school children and reproduced from the original manuscript in as near the exact language as we could make the type repeat it. They afford an interesting insight into a peculiar custom of feasting among our Philippine fellow-citizens and reveal somewhat of the difficulties with which "Young America" must contend in mastering the official language.

Following are the compositions:
"HOW WE USED DOG FOR FOOD AND CEREMONIES."

The dog shall be killed and a basin is placed under the neck of a dog. We must kill dog hitting the wood, after hitting the wood we must cut the throat so that blood will come out.
After the blood will come out we must open it. If the dog is open one must get a long bolo on one man will dance.
If a man will dance, the people will ask him why he was dincing. Some of the people will get dry wood in burned it, when the wood is burned we must put the dog on the fire, as soon as the hair are short, some will get water and clean it. And then they will get some of the wassel and cook it. If it is cook we must slice it and give to some neighbor, and the remainder will be yours. If not enough to your neighbor are must get one pig if it is not enough. The best thing to select the dog is black and fat.

ANACLETO BEDING."

"HOW WE USE DOG FOR FOOD AND CEREMONIES."

First we must get a mallet and killed at once with it on the head. Get dry sticks or fuel burn them and put the dog on the fire and when the hair are all burned take off it on the fire.
Rob the skin with a bolo. Wash it, take off the intestine from the stomach. Slice the whole body into two pieces. After slicing, wash it again and put them in the jar. When it is cooked take off the jar from the stove and then it is ready for food. We don't use the intestine we throw them or give to the chickens and dogs.

WILLIAM PALANGDAO."

CEREMONIES."

The dog should be killed and a basin is placed under the neck of a dog. We must cut the throat so as to let the blood comes out. If the blood will be consumed the dog is ready to be burned so as to clean the hair. If the hair is all burned, we must get water and wash it well. After getting this we must cut into small pieces. The intestine should be taken out and clean it well. This meat should be cooked.
If it will be cook we must take it from the pot and place it on a wide basket similar to a plate, then the priest will come and sit down near to it to pray. After praying the meat should be sliced and distribute to the people who are living near, but we must eat first, we are not going to distribute all the meat to the people but according to the number of people who came to attend the canao.

"I had spent hundreds of dollars trying to get rid of my troubles, but Tanlac has given me relief at a cost too small to mention," said Mrs. J. F.
Mulkins, of 438 Waco street, Wichita, Kan.

"Before I took Tanlac my health was broken down so that I was almost a nervous wreck. I couldn't sleep at night and would get up in the morning completely worn out and felt that way all day long. I suffered from smothering sensations after meals, had awful pains in the back of my head and such spells of dizziness I could hardly stand up. In spite of all the medicine I took I kept getting worse, until I was right on the verge of despair and didn't know which way to turn.

"But, lucky for me, I started taking Tanlac and now I am just like a different person altogether. My appetite has improved wonderfully, and my nerves have steadied down till I can sleep fine at night. I am so much stronger I look after an eight-room house with the greatest ease. It is just wonderful the way Tanlac has built me up."

Tanlac is sold in Hondo by W. H.

The Wood-Texas Well.

Drilling has ceased on the Wood-Texas well at a depth of 4,020 feet, and filling is now taking place preparatory to shooting the well at 2600 feet, which will probably be done next week. When the drill stopped it was still in black lime and oil showing good, but the drilling contract had been fulfilled and for several reasons it was decided to go no deeper, but resort to shooting the well for results, which no doubt will be satisfactory. A gusher may be brought in by this means, but if not, there is no doubt but that a good producer will be secured, in which event a number of other wells will be immediately drilled at Vanderpool.

"Time and tide wait for no man", and time once lost is gone forever!

Time misused is worse than lost; it is opportunity murdered. The time-killer is the worst kind of murderer!

Yesterday, good or bad, is gone forever; it will return no more. Tomorrow, with its hopes or fears, may never come. Today, with its golden moments of opportunity, alone is ours. Let us use it well!

The Record is in receipt of a copy of the "Monthly News Bulletin," published by the Texas Department of Agriculture at Austin with Fletcher Davis chief editor. The Department is fortunate in having so able a newspaper man and writer upon agricultural subjects as Mr. Davis at the helm of this farmer's magazine. The News Bulletin is sent out monthly and is free for the asking. — San Marcos Record.

In the course of an apologetic editorial quite out of keeping with his usual spirit, Col. Mose Harris, under the plea of "Have Patience" in discussing President Harding's change of front on the League of Nations issue, says in The Texas Republic: "It may be, that with his knowledge of international conditions, a knowledge which the people do not fully share, he has good reason to believe that the presence of an American Ambassador at some sessions of the Supreme Council will be justified by the country's interests. If this is the case, the action should not be prejudged, even though it may appear to the public somewhat inconsistent. At any rate, he should not be criticised for this until the reason for his action becomes more fully understood." And it is probable that then, there will be no cause for criticism." This sounds as if it might be a leaf torn from the arguments of the late apologists of the now discredited Wobblay Woodrow, and we are amazed at Col. Mose and ashamed of him. If President Harding has any "knowledge which the people do not share", pertaining to this country's relations with Europe, it is his duty to see that the people share it—and at once, before any act of his may involve this country in further trouble. It is the American people who must fight her wars and pay her bills, and it is the American people, and not alone their servants whom they have clothed with a little brief authority, who should "know" the reasons for it before a step is taken which may further involve them in difficulties that might better be avoided. God pity Harding and God pity America if Harding, like Wilson, is to have apologists where he should have counselors.

Frank Billings, Joe G. Montague and Judge J. A. Eames went to Hondo yesterday, under direction of the Chamber of Commerce, to try to interest the Medina county commissioners in the Bandera-San Antonio road matter. A representative of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce will also be there to help things along, and it is hoped that the Medina commissioners will respond to their pleadings and fix that portion of the road which crosses Medina county. — Bandera New Era.

Fletcherized Farm Facts BY FLETCHER DAVIS

(Reprinted from the Dallas Semi Weekly Farm News of May 10th.)

There are three purposes served by cultivation of crops. These purposes are: First, maintenance of tilth; second, maintenance of a soil mulch; and third, keeping down weed growth. In proportion to our success in these essentials will we succeed in producing good crops.

Soil is in a good state of tilth when a good seed bed has been prepared. Given a good seed bed—a soil that has been broken good and deep, well pulverized so as to render it easily permeable by the roots of the young plants, and at the same time sufficiently compact to exclude excessive air and afford a good firm anchorage for the plants—and the maintenance of soil tilth is a matter of secondary consideration in crop cultivation. Given normal seasons and a properly prepared seed bed to begin with and it becomes a matter of little further concern in the making of a crop. But of course, in extremes of weather condition it is an important matter to watch. In seasons of excessive rainfall precautions must be taken to avoid a packed, run-together soil. Clay soils and soils deficient in vegetable matter or humus especially need watching for this condition, as they are liable to run together and become so congealed and compacted as to almost exclude the air and render the soil almost impervious to any further penetration by the roots of the plants. On the other hand, in periods of drouth, the soil must not be allowed to bake and become hard and dry. These extreme conditions are both avoided by the same process—thorough cultivation as soon as the soil is sufficiently dry after each rain and as deep as the nature and age of the crop will permit.

As a rule, most crops may be given a deep cultivation at the first plowing, especially if poor preparation or adverse weather conditions have rendered necessary an improvement in the tilth of the soil. After this first cultivation normally, succeeding cultivations should be shallow. At least, the roots of the growing plants should never be disturbed by the plow except in those rare occasions where excessive and continuous rains have compacted the soil to such an extent that aeration through deep plowing becomes imperative. In cases of this kind, great care must be exercised lest the root-pruning do more harm than good to the crop.

The maintenance of a soil mulch is the prime requisite of successful crop cultivation. All growing crops use almost incredible quantities of water in growing. This water is all obtained from the soil by the roots of the plant. This water is essential in the growth of plants, first, to dissolve and hold in solution the mineral plant foods of the soil that are necessary to the growth of the plant; second, to furnish a vehicle by means of which these plant foods and their compounds are transported about the plant as needed in the form of sap; and third, to fill the pores of the plant, thus giving rigidity to the plant and enabling it to stand erect and develop symmetrically and normally. Obviously any thing that interferes with an ample supply of this soil water is injurious to the crop.

The water in the soil has a way of circulating by means of capillary attraction. The soil is permeated by myriads of tiny passage-ways along which the soil water creeps, molecule upon molecule, and thus spreads outward toward any dry area that may be in reach. As this soil water arrives at the top of its capillary stairway at the outer surface of the soil, it comes in contact with the heat of the summer sun and the thirsty atmosphere and floats away in vapor. The drier the atmosphere the faster the soil dries, the faster a crust forms and the faster the precious stores of soil water evaporate, leaving a thirsty and starving crop behind.

By stirring the surface and pulverizing it into a loose mass, we break up these capillaries and confine the soil moisture below where it will be within the reach of the plant's roots and available for the plant's use. This is the purpose of the soil mulch. We once heard Mr. Sam Neel of Seguin illustrate the principle by comparing the water in the capillaries to a man who has fallen into a well. So long as the well is small enough for him to brace himself against the opposite sides of it, he can climb upward; but the moment the well widens out until he can no longer reach the sides to brace himself, he must stop. So it is with the water. It can climb the narrow capillary walls, but the moment it reaches the wider openings in our loose soil mulch that moment it stops on its elusive flight.

Not only does the soil mulch conserve the moisture supply; it does more. Loose soil, being a poorer conductor of heat than a hard, compact soil, acts as a protection to the roots of the plants against the penetrating heat of the summer sun. It also absorbs the rainfall more readily than a hard, compact soil and thus prevents an excessive flow-off of rain when it comes in sudden or heavy down-pours.

All weeds are robbers. They rob the crop of moisture and plant food from the time they germinate until they are destroyed. And if allowed to become large enough they will rob them of air and sunlight. There must usually be an interminable war on weeds, but the man who maintains his soil in a good state of tilth and keeps up the right kind of a soil mulch will, under normal conditions, have incidentally destroyed his weeds.

Was Very Weak

"After the birth of my baby I had a backache," writes Mrs. Mattie Crosswhite, of Glade Springs, Va. "I was very weak. I was so weak I couldn't raise my head. I got a drink of water, took . . . medicine, but didn't get any better. I was constipated and very weak, getting worse and worse. I sent for Cardui."

"I found after one bottle of Cardui I was improving," adds Mrs. Crosswhite. "Six bottles of Cardui and I was cured, yes, I can say they were a God-send to me. I believe I would have died, had it not been for Cardui." Cardui has been found beneficial in many thousands of cases of women's troubles. If you feel the need of a good, strengthening tonic, why not Cardui? It may be what you need.

Pecan Insect Pests.

It appears that several insect pests are doing damage to pecan trees this season, judging from num-rous complaints and the many specimens sent into the Extension Service A. and M.
College of Texas, advises R. R. Rep-ert Entomologist.

In some sections galls have appeared on the leaves and stems, and in some instances these growths are enormous, and appear to have prevented the setting of a young crop. The galls are caused by plant lice, of a species known as the Hickory Phyloxera. Large numbers of these are to be found inside the galls both as winged and wingless forms. No control measures can be recommended at this time. This insect is so seldom presnt that usaly its damage is not noticeable.

Web worms, which bunch the leaves together in a web and eat the foliage, are numerous in some sections. A colony of these inhabit each web. A grove examined in Waller County on April 28th showed these had mostly pupated, indicating that a new brood will hatch the early part of June in South Texas. Spraying should then be done the latter part of June or first part of July, if such injury has developed by that time to such extent as to make control advisable. The spray sho'd consist of one pound arsenate of lead in fifty gallons of water, to which is added three pounds of stone lime, after slacking. The higher pressure the sprayer is capable of generating the better.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have an un-rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance.

GROVES TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regu-

The Price of the NEW EDISON has increased less than 15% since 1914.

Mr. Edison has sacrificed millions in order to keep his favorite invention within the reach of everyone.

Would you like to know Mr. Edison's Favorite Tunes?

YOU know Mr. Edison, the scientist — now meet Mr.
Edison, the music lover. Almost every day, Mr. Edison sits close to his Official Laboratory Model, hand cupped to ear, and enjoys his favorite RE-CREATIONS.

Mr. Edison has his own private collection of RE-CREATIONS. He has built it up with the discrimination of a confirmed collector.

We have just received a booklet containing 25 of his favorite tunes.
This booklet is entitled "What Edison Likes in Music", and interestingly describes Mr. Edison, the Music Lover.

If you would like a copy of this booklet, together with a 12" x 19" proof of Franklin Booth's etching of Mr. Edison, please fill out this ballot and mail or bring it to us.

What other well-known person's favorite tunes would you like to know? Please write his or her name on the ballot.

Mr. Edison's love of music has made the phonograph his favorite invention. He spent over three million dollars in research work to perfect the New Edison.

Then, to prove its perfect realism, he stood the New Edison side by side with the living artist and matched its performance with the actual performance of the living artist. No one was able to detect any difference between the two.
This is the only true way to prove the realism of a phonograph or talking machine — and the New Edison is the only phonograph which sustains this acid-test of direct comparison.

GIVES REASONS FOR DEPRESSION

Rail Chief Declares Freight Charges Not the Cause of Stagnation.

FARM PRODUCTS ARE CITED

Business Depression and Lack of Demand the Real Trouble.

Washington, D. C.—In testifying before the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, which is conducting an inquiry into the railroad situation, Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the board of the Southern Pacific company, went into great detail as to the effect of freight rates on produce shipments, foreign and domestic. The main points he made in this part of his testimony were:

First—That business depression is not the result of high freight rates.
Second—That the real cause of stag-nation in produce shipments is lack of market or profiteering.

He said in part:
A widespread propaganda is being carried on to arouse public sentiment against existing freight rates, whereas the fact is that even since the rates have been advanced the cost of transporting commodities is far less than the toll taken by the commission merchant and the retailer for buying and selling them.

Public Misled as to Situation People are misled and conclude that high rates have stopped the movement of a large amount of freight and that the railways would make more money if they would reduce the rates and thereby revive the traffic.

There is the strongest reason to believe that the very great reduction in traffic has been due almost entirely to general business conditions that are world-wide in their effect, and that would have come if there had been no advance in freight rates.

Prices of commodities reached their maximum in the first half of the year 1920 and thereafter fell with great rapidity in France, the United States and the United Kingdom. The fall in the United States began in May, and was rapidly on its way down grade in September, when the advanced rates took effect. Nevertheless traffic did not drop for at least four months.
Slump Not Caused by Higher Rates It was a general deflation and fall in prices from the heights to which they had been driven by war conditions that has caused a stagnation of business throughout the world.

That it is not caused by the cost of transportation is convincingly shown by the fact that stoppage of buying has caused an oversupply of ships, hence ocean tonnage rates have been recently at the lowest points in their history.

Notwithstanding these low rates, ocean traffic shows as great stagnation as rail traffic, and millions of tons of shipping here and abroad are rusting away in idleness. Many commodities would not move even if the freight charges on them were abolished entirely, because producers can find no market.

That the decline in business is not due to prohibitive freight rates is shown by the following examples:

In January of this year the total tonnage of lines west of El Paso and Ogden operated by the Southern Pacific Company fell off 41 per cent.
The combined interstate freight tonnage in Arizona and Nevada declined 30 per cent, although no increase in the interstate freight rates in those States has been as yet authorized or made effective. This decrease embraced grain, hay and livestock, as well as ores and other commodities.
COTTON UNSHIPPED FOR LACK OF MARKETS

Of a Texas cotton crop of over four million bales, 40 per cent remains un-marketed. The average cost of rail and water shipment from producing point to Liverpool has been reduced about $1.25 per 100 pounds, in the face of which about one-half million bales of cotton less than normal have been exported to Liverpool. Obviously the freight rate is not responsible for the restricted movement.

During September, October, and November, 1920, 45 per cent less rice, 50 per cent less canned salmon and 77 per cent less dried fruit were exported than during the same months of the previous year, although the reduction in ocean rates was substantially more than the increase in inland rail rates, so that the material decline in the exports of these commodities was in the face of a less aggregate cost of transportation.

The Case of the Fruit Growers The troubles of the California lemon grower have attracted much attention.
He claims he is unable to ship his product because of the increased freight rates. A removal of all the recent increase of the rate on lemons would not help him. He has a rate by sea through the Panama Canal of less than half—48 per cent—of the rail rate, yet his lemons are not marketed.
The average price of a cantaloupe laid down in New York in the season of 1920 was not quite 11 cents. As they were retailed at about 25 cents, there is a further profit to somebody of 14 cents per cantaloupe.

The managers of the propaganda for a general reduction of freight rates have lost sight of the fact that in October, 1920, 1,195,321 carloads of coal were moved, being the maximum moved in any month in the preceding two years, although it was handled at the advanced freight rates, and we have heard nothing as to coal being produced at a loss or of the coal mine owners going out of business because of existing freight rates.

The percentage of freight charges to value in the early part of 1921 is almost exactly the same as it was in 1914.

HEAD OF CHURCH AND STATE

In Addition to Founding New Religious Belief, John Calvin Was Man of Many Activities.

On August 5, 1536, there arrived in Geneva, Switzerland, a man whose name lives still in the town itself and in the system of theology which is called after him—John Calvin. He was a native of Noyon, in Picardy, who espoused the new religious belief and had gone to the French capital, but found it necessary to seek an asylum abroad. He established not only the Reformed church, but also the state; he developed public instruction, founded the Geneva academy, which became in those days the leading school of Protestant theology, with the gentle Beza, Calvin's devoted friend, as its first rector. He worked out civil and sumptuary laws, investing old institutions with a simplicity and austerity that attracted the attention and support of reformers in all countries. Geneva thus became the stronghold of the reformed faith, and a refuge for persecuted Protestants of all nationalities, especially Frenchmen.

MADE HIM SOMEWHAT TIRED

And Others Besides This Precocious Youth Have Had Much the Same Feeling.

It is, perhaps, unnecessary to give the name of the New England city which is the residence of the lad who figures in this story.

There had been a visitor, and to this lad she said: "And so this is little Walter? My, my! What a big boy you've grown to be! I wouldn't have believed it possible."

"Mother," said Walter, when the visitor had gone, "doesn't it pass your comprehension how persons in whom one would naturally expect an ordinary degree of intelligence appear to believe, all history and nature to the contrary, that the children of their acquaintance will always remain infants and persist in expressing surprise when they observe the perfectly natural increase in one's stature?"—

Knockout Comedian Feared Caruso Might Trespass on Territory That Belonged to Him.

At a benefit in New York in which many theatrical stars appeared for charity, a well-known knockabout song-and-dance man was to go on at 9 o'clock so as to get back to the roof garden for his regular stunt at 11. As he waited in the wings, he noticed a heavy-set man walking to and fro, with an air of impatience, on the oper side of the stage.

"Who is that guy there?" he asked the stage manager.

"Why"—the manager looked surprised—"why, that is Caruso."

"Does he go on here tonight?"

"Sure, he does. He is going to sing a couple of songs."

"Well," said the knockabout man a little sourly, "tell him to sing anything he likes, but to lay off 'The Darktown Strutters' Ball.' I use that for an opener and I don't want it crabbled!"
